

The Carson Daily Appeal

CARSON CITY:
Tuesday, March 11, 1873.
NO MORE SUNDAY FARO DEALING.

We were witness, yesterday, to the drawing of a compact entered into between the various proprietors of faro games here in Carson, to refrain, henceforth, from dealing their games on Sunday. This indicates an acquiescence in a religious requirement of the times which is altogether commendable; and it is none the less so because it comes, voluntarily from the gamblers themselves. It is by making such decent concessions to popular notions as this that the sporting fraternity may disarm the factions opponents of the license system, the workings and beneficent results of which it is needless for us to repeat, this paper having already discussed the subject very fully when that subject was a matter of public interest. May we not hope that the gamblers of the other counties of the State will see fit to emulate the very worthy example thus set by their Carson brethren? If the licensees of gaming tables will only insist upon observing the outward requirements of respectability, why may not the business of faro dealing claim as much consideration from public opinion as that other careful observer of the sacredness of the Christian Sabbath, the Stock Board?

Are we unreasonable in our suspicions; possessed with the Devil of uncharity; whelmed in the gulf of depravity and all cussedness that we do continue to suspect the honesty and motives and the acts of Schuyler Colfax? We own that his grinning and intrusive Young Men's Christianizing; his super-excellent, glib and imperturbable morality; his overbearing temperance; his bullying love for the Sabbath school and general goody-goodness, scrapes against a raw edge which doubtless is a natural sin within our composition; and so it is that we are prone to look upon the recent South Bend speechifying of the ex-Vice President as the froth and gas which effervesce at the bidding of a man who can get up and talk on anything in the wide world, at a moment's notice—the special pleadings of a man who is determined to thwart his accusers by manufacturing sympathy for himself as rapidly as he finds himself in a place where a lying ingenuity fails of getting him clear of taint and suspicion. The quibble to which he confesses when he owns to having given an evasive answer to his accusers last Summer, is the veriest pettifoggery and all unworthy of a man who has made a love for morality and the technical virtues so conspicuous a pretense as he has.

The White Pine News of March 8 contains an article in which State Mineralogist Whitehill is violently assailed for having presumed to allude in very plain terms to the sadly dilapidated condition of that part of the Great East where the lately pretentious cities of Treasure Hill and Hamilton are located. Whitehill was too rigidly truthful in his statements of the condition of the mines and the prosperity of the people there-away, and so the News indignantly says, after wasting some of its withering satire by calling Whitehill a "Professor" and italicizing that dreadful word, that

The Professor either made his report seated in one of the best rooms of Spaulding's or Jackson's hotel, or else he knows as much about a mine as a coyote knows about mine pies.

That the article which contains this anathema precedes another which is headed "Polite Journalism," is to be accounted for only as by the terms of a White Pine estimate of what amount of personal detraction can be carried on without overstepping the bounds of courtesy in newspaper writing.

IMPORTANT LAND DECISION.—The very important decision of the Secretary of the Interior regarding the Julia-Chollar Potosi case, in which the decision of the Commissioner is affirmed, will be published in to-morrow's Appeal, Judge Waitz having kindly furnished us with a copy of the same.

ONE WARD is undertaking to embellish the town of Pioche with shade trees. He has contracted for a certain number of locusts and black walnut.

THE Pioche miners are so lazy, when they are lazy, that when they yawn they dislocate their jaws. One Howe is the last one of the mining fraternity there who did this feat.

AN ACCOMMODATION TRAIN FROM SAN FRANCISCO URGENTLY NEEDED.

A petition, numerously signed by our business people, has been, or soon will be, forwarded to the Central Pacific Company:

CARSON, March 4, 1873.
To the President, Trustees and Superintendent of the Central Pacific Railroad:
Gentlemen: We, the undersigned, would most respectfully request of your Company the accommodation of running the four P. M. train from San Francisco through to Reno.

An arrangement of this kind will be a great convenience to the residents of Western Nevada and must necessarily increase the travel largely, from the fact that the time of arrival at Reno would then be about seven o'clock in the morning instead of twelve at night as it is now, which makes it uncomfortable in the extreme.

There is a train now, we understand, which leaves San Francisco, daily, for Sacramento at 4 o'clock in the afternoon; and it is with a hope of persuading the C. P. people to continue this train straight through to Reno, that this petition is made. As at present the connections are made the trip from San Francisco here is one of the most tedious and disagreeable that can be conceived of—destroying one's night's rest and making the arrivals here and at Reno at sadly inconvenient hours. We certainly hope the change may be granted.

We are informed by the White Pine News that the bill for the funding of the debt of that county passed by the late Legislature became a law contrary to the wishes of the people there. Very likely, but then this is no good reason why the said county should not pay its debts.

THE LATEST TELEGRAMS

WASHINGTON, MARCH 10.
It is the present intention to end the extra session of the Senate on Friday next. It was decided in the Republican Senatorial caucus yesterday to take up to-morrow the resolution which came over from the last session, for the expulsion of Senator Patterson, whose term expired on March 4th, with a view of obtaining an expression of the opinion of the Senate upon it. After that is disposed of, the resolution of declaring the seat of Caldwell of Kansas vacant will be taken up, debated and voted upon. An effort was made in caucus to postpone action upon Caldwell's case till December, but it was voted down, which is indicative of the Republican majority declaring that he is not entitled to his seat.

Advices received here to-day show that a compromise is proposed by the fusionists in Louisiana, giving the Republicans the Governor and the Fusionists the Lieutenant Governor, and contemplates the seating of Senators and Representatives whose rights are undisputed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.
Professor Coe went up in his balloon, accompanied by a reporter, this afternoon. They were last seen from San Jose going toward Gilroy.

LINCOLN, Cal., March 9.
A man named Coates was found dead to-day under singular circumstances. His son was herding sheep yesterday, and not coming home at the expected time, his sister was sent to see the cause of the delay. She also failed to return, when the father went in search of both. He also failed to come back, and to-day the neighbors commenced a search for the missing ones and succeeded in finding the body of Coates, but the others were not found. The cause of his death is not known.

SOME change in Mint per centages on silver coinage is described in the local department; and those whom it may concern had better read what is said there.

DAVID BOSTWICK was lately frozen to death in Butte Valley, Eastern Nevada, while hunting stock. His faithful dog was found beside him, also frozen to death.

THEATER.—We are glad to note that our citizens are entitling themselves to Manager Piper's best efforts to cater to their love for the drama by patronizing his performances with liberal houses. Last night Miss Marian Mordaunt, new here, appeared in a play as new to our citizens as her own attractive face—the play of "Darling"—her specialty. The part she enacts in this play is made to call out Miss Mordaunt's peculiar versatility of powers, and she gave us "Ellen Murray," "Becky Ann Jones," "Peculiar," "Biddy McGinnis," "Patrick Stock" and "Clara Berrick," with a good deal of animation and cleverness. She seems well entitled to the popularity which she has acquired for herself in Virginia and elsewhere that she has been. The other characters in this play were well sustained by the very capable stock company that Mr. Piper has provided for this engagement. To-night Miss Mordaunt will appear in a drama written expressly for herself, entitled "Hearts are Trumps," in which she sustains three characters, not the least attractive of which is "Dolly Varden." This is said to be a highly entertaining play. To-morrow night we are to have "Ireland as it is" and "Betsy Baker," in each of which pieces Miss Mordaunt will sustain the principal characters, the occasion being her own benefit.

TRAT SLOUGH which runs in an easterly direction from the front of Logate's Chop House across Carson street to a point on the western frontage of the fence which adorns Capitol Square is a very attractive and pleasant refuge for such vagrant swine as choose to infest our principal thoroughfare. We don't like to seem too officious in the matter of suggestions; but won't our thoughtful county fathers be good enough to consider the propriety of dumping some square yards of gravel into that unsightly depression?

SILVER BULLION FOR LONDON.—We saw yesterday, at Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Agency, eleven huge silver bricks fresh from the Mint, each with a paper label pasted on it directing the sending of the same to the London and San Francisco Bank, Limited, London, England. These bricks are of Crown Point Silver, and aggregate, we suppose, about thirty-three or thirty-five thousand dollars. This is the guess we make from observing the market value of one of the same—which is $3,330 66.

A NEW LIBERTY POLE WANTED.—Between the present writing and the next Fourth of July we hope to see erected upon the Plaza a successor to the handsome liberty pole which now lies prone upon the ground there. Our pole-sharps should be on the look out for the timber where-with to supply the indicated deficiency, so that when it comes to be generally felt that a new pole must be had forthwith, it may be got without delay.

THE EPIDEMIC is here, sure enough. The disease prevails in so many quarters that it is useless to specify particular cases. The peculiar cough which accompanies this disorder is heard on all sides. The usual course and remedies are resorted to; and those whose animals are attacked take matters as philosophically as possible.

CAPTAIN MEDER is confined to his house by a severe attack of sickness—something of the nature of pneumonia, we believe. The county can ill-afford to lose his services and we hope he may soon recover his usual degree of health.

SOME BETTER.—Charley Meder told us last night that his father was some better, that his disease was not the pneumonia but a nausea accompanied by occasional fever spells. His physician thinks there is no special cause for alarm.

MEMBERS of the trial jury summoned for to-day are expected to be on hand promptly at noon.

GEO. WM. CURTIS, the clear and clever writer who makes the second page of Harper's Weekly respectable in the field of journalistic essays, is seriously sick with the typhoid fever.

BOSS TWEEK worries as much as he is worried. Hard boss to curry is the veteran boss.

CALDWELL will probably get off without further trouble. The coming into existence of a new Senate is the salve which will draw all the "corruption" out of him. Who keeps.
